COMPARE AND CONTRAST JOHN WEBSTER THE DUCHESS OF MALFI AND ALPHA REHN, THE ROVERS AS A JACOBEAN REVENGE TRAGEDY AND RESTORATION COMEDY.

INTRODUCTION

Jacobean period started after Queen Elizabeth, and artistic works then were called Jacobean arts. The word "Jacobean" was from the name of the ruler James Jacob and this happened after the monarch was defeated.

Jacobean Revenge Tragedy

Restoration Comedy: This is a comedy of manner which satirizes the ills of the society. Restoration comedy focuses on the manner or social behaviour and convention of the society at large.

Jacobean revenge tragedy and the restoration comedy can be seen as the characteristics of the neo-classical periods of English literature. "The Duchess of Malfi" by John Webster and Alpha Rehn "The Rovers" are clear examples of Jacobean revenge tragedy and Restoration comedy. Restoration comedy has the following characteristics:

- Complicated plot
- Social immorality
- Pretentious life

It also has other characteristics as

1. The setting is always in London.
2. The characters are stereotyped.
3. Characters are often from the upper class.
4. The plot is always about an illicit love affair.
5. Witty dialogue is one important feature of the comedy of manners as it appeals to the intelligence of the audience rather than their emotions.
